THE BIG GAME
A Humorous Monolog

Copyright 1934 and 1962 by the WETMORE DECLAMATION BUREAU, Sioux City, Iowa.

(This may be read as a straight monolog, or, used with the following properties, it makes an especially good entertainment number.)

PROPERTY LIST: One dummy microphone. One old straw hat. One pair of field glasses. Open with a stirring football march, state or local school.

(THE READER MAKES THIS ANNOUNCEMENT)

Of course, you have all heard the famed sports announcers give their play by play descriptions of the BIG GAME over the air, but, did you ever SEE one of them in action? NO? Then allow me to transfer the controls to the press box, high above the gridiron, where Joe Doakes, C.C.N.'s ace sportscaster, will show you how it's done. Take it away, Joe.

(The reader places the straw hat on his head, tilting it slightly over one eye, rumples hair, and sets his necktie a trifle askew. The speeches are delivered from the corner of the mouth and have a decidedly nasal twang. In one hand he has the field glasses. He speaks.)

Here we are, folks. Here we are. Back in the old press box. Your announcer is Joe Doakes and this play by play description of the annual football classic of America is being brought to you through the generosity of HARRIGAN MAYBE CO., manufacturers of HAIR-BAC, the product which is guaranteed to grow hair on ANTHING--even a DOOR KNOB.
